Primary Election Next Monday.

The Maine primary election, for the choice of state and county offices, comes next Monday, June 16. So often has the importance of all citizens voting in the primary been urged, that it seems almost a certainty that the voting, still, will not be too inspiring.

But the voting will be more general.

The polls will open at twelve o'clock noon, and close at 9 P. M. In the town of Paris there will be as at all general elections two voting places, at South Paris and West Paris, for the two sections of the town.

Here and There.

A Bowdoin College student of civic affairs and Maine statistics has called attention to the great increase in public expenditure.

There are some fine figures.

In the last half century the population has increased 23 per cent, but the public expenditure 123 per cent.

That means a great deal.

This student has shown that the mean family of five persons averages $400 annually.

He is also authority, that out of every twelve persons over sixteen years of age in the state, the mean family of five persons averages $400 annually.

It ought to be the fashion to retouch pretty soon.

What is believed to be the biggest doctor's bill on record has been sued for in the Probate Court of Penobscot County.

Dr. Everett T. Nealey of Bangor, against the estate of Edward H. Blakely, multi-millionaire of that city.

The doctor's bill, which covers a period of twenty-eight years, has the amount given the impression that the mean family must have dined every day on green cucumbers, and had to sober off on a castor oil cocktail.

People looking for signs can find them easily enough in almost any place at this time of year. If one wants to know what these signs refer to, here is the old var, the authorship of which nobody doubts, and which might be proud to have written it:

There is a sign upon the fence:

The sign was "Painted."

And the fence was wood,

Painted with the touch paint,

And on each spot,

And as they wiped their finger tips,

"It is" they said.

There is but little of what is generally called "work" to be done by the Republican national convention which meets at Chicago Tuesday of this week. It is certain that the convention, this time, that Calvin Coolidge will be nominated for president, and no time will be taken up with a contest.

The most important business of the convention will be the selection of a candidate for vice-president.

Once the vice-presidential candidate was picked all parties by the size of his "barrel," but that day is past.

The convention can now be selected with the same care as the presidential candidate.

It is expected that the convention will have three working days, and adjourn on Thursday.

And now we are reading reports as to the growth of the year's blueberry crop.

And the blueberry is a late summer fruit.

And the furnace fire hasn't gone out yet.

Before returning home Mr. McWhorter is spending a few days with friends here.

The girls' basket ball team of Leavitt Institute of Turner came here Friday afternoon to play against Oxford High School by a ratio considerably more, which the Democrats can not give accurately. It is unofficially reported as 15 to 6.

Rev. and Mrs. Fred Bannister are in Oxford, where their son Cecil graduate from the University of Maine.

In the absence of Mr. Bannister, services at the Congregational church were conducted on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Bannister will attend the graduation of their son at the University of Maine.

Following his father's graduation, obtaining an education he studied law and became a lawyer of prominence in the state. He served Oxford County with distinction, and was a member of the bar and a member of the Masonic Lodge.

Later he gave his time more to his business enterprises and built up in Dixfield several large manufacturing plants.

He was a man of great energy and a pick mill, a clothes pin mill and a bread mill, all of which gave employment to many people, and made a market for the products of the neighboring forest growth.

The program was a good one, and was well received.

The photo from which Mr. Markley writes is about the latitude of the city of Quebec.

A very enjoyable outing was had by the Town Nature Club Saturday at Camp Oxford, on Whitney Pond, Oxford. About twenty were present, and all enjoyed the day over.

They crossed the pond in a boat, keeping accommodations for twenty at Cummings cottage. The cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence G. Morton on the shore was fully open.

The following pupils of Porter Street Primary School will be graduated on Saturday evening, June 15, at 7:30 o'clock the baccalaureate services for the graduating class of South Paris High School.

All relatives, friends and undergraduates are cordially invited to be present.

The class of 1924 will march in with Lester Conran, president of the class, and Mr. Conran will preside at the exercises.

Mr. Conran will preach the sermon, and other parts of the program will be taken by the ministers of the churches of South Paris.

Mr. Conran will preach from the text taken from the 4th chapter of St. Luke, "Thou art anxious and troubled about many things; but nothing is needful." Music will be furnished by Mrs. Bell Jackson and the choir of the Union Methodist church, assisted by Mrs. T. E. R. Barnes. An offering will be taken to aid in meeting the graduating expenses of the class.

The Home Soda Fountain. The soda fountain makes an almost universal appeal to children of all ages, and when it is a home soda fountain, one can't help but feel that it is a real treat. In these days of mental tension, some form of mid-afternoon break in the day's routine has become an "institution" in many homes. One of the reasons for its popularity is the fact that it offers a pleasant pretext for friends and neighbors to drop in for an informal visit, and when the food values are a real drink, and the flavoring is good, relaxation, the afternoon milk party becomes a family health measure of great importance.

The most delicious milk drinks can be made by mixing of fresh whole milk, powdered milk, evaporated milk, or condensed milk. Household flavoring extracts, soda fountain straws, home-made sirups, or juices from fruit and dried fruit, may be used. Popular flavorings like chocolate, vanilla, strawberry, and orange are prime favorites. Any one who wishes to be an expert mixer of delicious flavored milk will find the following directions:

Fresh milk is generally available for the home soda fountain, but powdered milk may be used instead. Powdered whole milk may be bought in cans at first-class grocery stores, and will not spoil if kept tightly closed. The can can be opened once, however, and the lid must be closed tightly again.

A bath mixture—A salt shaker is not a usual bathroom furnishing, and most completely successful way to clean a comb is to use the ordinary soap and water. Clean the comb thoroughly, then dip it in a glass of cold water, then dry it with a soft cloth.
